ED MILLS ANNOUNCES TIMOTHY GILLIAM TO SERVE AS CAMPAIGN MANAGER FOR 2010 STATE SENATE RUN

Bowling Green, Ky. – Oct. 16, 2009- Ed Mills today announced that Timothy Gilliam, a veteran of Republican campaigns and politics, has been named campaign manager of his 2010 state Senate effort.

Gilliam, originally from LaGrange, Kentucky, is a senior political science major at Western Kentucky University. Despite his youth, he brings valued experience in Republican politics to Ed Mills' staff. In 2008, Gilliam traveled to South Carolina where he worked for John McCain's presidential campaign. Since then, he has worked on the Northrup for Congress campaign in Louisville, interned in Bowling Green's Republican Victory Office, and worked in Congressman Brett Guthrie's office in Washington, D.C.

"I'm thrilled to bring Timothy onto my campaign team. His political experience is critical as we move into the election year, and I welcome his input. He shares my commitment to returning the 32nd District State Senate seat to the Republican Party."

Timothy Gilliam said, "I am honored to help lead the state Senate campaign for Ed Mills. Throughout his career, Ed has exhibited the business sense and leadership necessary to help this state and its people. I'm excited about working with him."
